Ok I will continue to wait for it as it should absolutely be somewhere. I was wondering in the meantime do you have Schimmel's job description that you can send?

Really, still nothing. I have not set eyes on it for quite a few years.

Going into the deep recesses of our storage vault later this week. Maybe it will be there.

I have not been able to find a copy of the retainer agreement. As I mentioned, it was in place before I got to this office almost 20 years ago. I recall seeing it on paper many years ago, but not for quite a while.

Looked in my own files, but have not gotten through the main files in the office. My office assistant left our employment and I just got a part time/temp replacement yesterday, so I will set her to looking through those paper files tomorrow to see if she can find anything.

Wow. I'll check if I can find it. Not sure it is in our electronic records and we may not have anybody in the office physically before Wednesday. Or office assistant is out until Thursday.

George is not an employee, he is an outside contractor, outside counsel. He took this over from his father, who was, in fact, doing it before I was born. The arrangement has not changed, including the cost, since I got here almost 20 years ago.

I'll see what I can find on Monday.
